

Providing high quality meat to West Virginia's hungry.

Participation & Donations

There are many people involved with the Hunters Helping the Hungry (HHH) program, but participation by hunters and West Virginia meat processors are key to its success.

During the first week of bow season, the entire 12-day buck (and concurrent antlerless season), 6-day traditional antlerless and 6-day muzzleloader seasons, hunters who legally harvest a deer and wish to donate the meat to HHH, can deliver the deer to the nearest participating meat processor.

The meat processor will skin the deer; debone and grind the meat (no other cuts); freeze it in two-pound packages; and hold it for pick-up by the Mountaineer Food Bank, in Gassaway, West Virginia, or the Huntington Area Food Bank.

These food banks are the only certified West Virginia members of Second Harvest, a national network committed to feeding the hungry. Both are non-profit organizations, inspected and approved by the West Virginia Department of Agriculture. They distribute the ground venison to the needy through their network of qualified charitable agencies.

Ed Hamrick, Director - WV Division of Natural Resources

Hunters Helping the Hungry (HHH) provides thousands of pounds of venison to hungry West Virginians each year. Although the West Virginia Division of Natural Resources, Wildlife Resources Section, coordinates and publicizes HHH to the hunting public, under State law, it has no authority to spend license fee income on food processing and distribution costs.

Meat processing costs approximately $40 per deer, with the average deer providing 35 1/2 lbs. of ground venison (approximately 142 meals). Food banks are paid only for pickup and distribution costs.

Only the generous donations of caring individuals and businesses or organizations such as the West Virginia Council of Churches and the Jack Whittaker Foundation, Inc., can fulfill the program's mission to:

"...provide balanced, healthy meals for the less fortunate of West Virginia..."

The Wildlife Resources Section makes an urgent appeal to all West Virginians who are able to help. Donations are tax-deductible.
